

Enhancement of existing electronic equipment as required by RM-10330 would be so difficult and expensive that we may as well call it impossible. The negative economic impact on individuals and businesses would be staggering.